

April, 2009

Introduction

Hi! Teachers,

Happy Spring! With springtime upon us, let's wake up and smell the flowers and encourage our students to do the same. This month, I've included fun songs and activities about spring, seeds and plants, and bees. Enjoy!

During this month, as children question current world events, let's stand ready to balance uncertainty and worry with joy and wonder! Take walks around the school in the sunshine. Pause to cloud-watch and find and write about shapes or scenes depicted in the clouds. Encourage children to observe and record tree, leaf, and plant growth as spring blossoms forth. Bring potted bulbs and flowering plants to school and watch as they grow. Paint pictures of them. Talk and write about spring, growth, and life!

Wishing you a joyous, peaceful spring!
Dr. Maggie

